I feel that government is trying to take away our rights, piece by piece. There is much more to worry about in the world than dictating to me what I can and can not hear, especially when I am paying to hear a service. What XM is doing is a good thing, and benefits many listeners. People have a choice, we have the right to decide for our selves... We do not need to be micro-managed and led, and rights dwindled away by a governemt or agency for whom we pay their salaries and elect them into office.
